|           | Not all definitions contained in PANS-MET have been formally defined in Australian legislation.                                                                                                 |
| CHAPTER 2 |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|           | Australia does not currently regulate the provision of aviation meteorological services, and certain national practices are not fully aligned with the requirements set out in ICAO's PANS-MET. |
| CHAPTER 3 |                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
